NORWAY AND SWEDEN

ON THE EVE OF SEPARATION

The Scandinavian Peninsula May Again be Under Different Monarchs.

Christiania, June 8.—The Norwegian parliament has declared the union under one king between Sweden and Norway dissolved, and asked the young prince of the House of Bernadotte to take the throne.

In the addresses to King Oscar the Norwegian parliament says:

"The course of developments which have proven more powerful than the desire and will of individuals has led to this result.

"The union entered upon in 1814 has from the first hour been differently interpreted by the two nations, both with regard to its spirit and letter.

"Efforts have been made on the Swedish side to extend the union, on the Norwegian side to confine it to the limit laid down by the act of the union and otherwise to assert the independent power of both states in all that act as coming under the union.

"The difference of principle in the interpretation of the character of the union has provoked much misunderstanding between the two peoples, and has caused much friction in the interpretation which during the recent negotiations between the two countries has been laid down by Sweden as against Norway. The Norwegian people were bound to preserve Sweden as against the injury to their constitutional right, their independence and their national honor. The union was justified so long as it could contribute to the well-being and happiness of both peoples, while maintaining their independence as sovereign states. But above the union there stands for Norwegians our fatherland, and with the Swedes their Swedish fatherland, while more valuable than the political union are the feelings of solidarity and voluntary cohesion of both peoples.

"The union has become a danger to the feeling of solidarity of the Norwegian and Swedish peoples, when should secure happiness for both nations and constitute their strength abroad. If the union is now severed, the Norwegian people have no other wish than to live in good harmony with all, and at least with the people of Sweden and the dynasty under the direction of which our country, despite many and bitter disputes affecting the union, has attained such important intellectual and material development.

"As evidence of the fact that the work and struggle of the Norwegian people for the full independence of the fatherland has not been founded on any ill feeling toward the royal house, or the Swedish people, and has not left behind any bitterness towards either of these, the Storting respectfully solicits your majesty's co-operation to the end that the right of your majesty's house may be permitted, while relinquishing his right of succession to the throne of Sweden, to accept election as king of Norway. The day on which the Norwegian people elect their own king to ascend the ancient throne of Norway will open upon us an era of more tranquil conditions in Norway, of good and cordial relations with the Swedish people, and of peace and loyal cooperation in the north for the protection of this culture of the people and their freedom and their independence. Convinced of that, the Storting ventures to express the confident hope that what has now been done, will turn out to be for the good of all, as well as for your majesty, for whose person the Norwegian people will retain their highest respect and devotion."

After the Storting had adopted the resolution, President Berner, in a speech, emphasized the serious importance of the step taken, he continued by saying, "May God protect the fatherland."

The whole assembly joined in the president's devout wish. Perfect order prevailed throughout the city. Crowds assembled all day in front of the Storting building and cheered the members of the government when they left. When Mr. Berner appeared, a military band struck up the national anthem, and the people uncovered, formed in a double row and saluted him respectfully as he passed.

SWEDEN PROPOSES.

Stockholm, Sweden, June 8.—King Oscar has telegraphed to Mr. Berner, president of the Storting, informing him that he had telegraphed to Premier Nielsen, emphatically protesting against the action of the council of state. The newspapers of Stockholm, commenting on the news of the Storting, declare that a revolution has been accomplished, as Sweden's sanction is necessary.

SOME CURRENT EVENTS

The Toronto Mail and Empire merely continues its crusade against the characters of all who dare oppose its opinions. The latest assault is made on the Minister of the Interior, of whom the Mail and Empire says:—
"The corrupt influence of the Laurier Government is made clear in the case of Frank Oliver. In 1888 Mr. Oliver, as a member of the North-West Legislative, moved a resolution calling for the freedom of the Territories in the matter of education. In 1905 Mr. Oliver accepted 'a valuable office from Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and voted for coercion.' Because the attempt of the Territorial Legislature to legally nationalize the schools in 1888 was turned down by a House of Commons in which the friends of the Mail and Empire preponderated the Legislature of the Territories set about accomplishing the practical nationalization of the schools by an arrangement which has proved satisfactory to all and objectionable to none. Because the Minister of the Interior prefers to see this condition of affairs definitely continued, rather than see the new provinces torn with internecine squabbles over a school question, the Mail and Empire imputes to him treason for the sake of office. The Logic of the Mail and Empire appears on a par with its courtesy and honesty."

Premier Haultain is quoted in an interview given the Winnipeg Telegram as of the opinion that the autonomy bills will not pass the Federal House by July 1, the date set for the inauguration of provincial powers. Mr. Haultain has spent several months in Ontario and apparently in close touch with leaders of the Opposition. His words may therefore be fairly taken as an expression of the intention of the Opposition to delay the bills beyond that date. This is borne out by the very plain intimation of Mr. Haultain that the inaugural celebration at Regina would have to be postponed, the honorable gentleman did not deign to mention the Edmonton celebration fixed for the same date. According to Mr. Haultain therefore the policy of the Opposition is to now delay by any and all means the advent of what Mr. Haultain told the electors of Edmonton in November last was one of the supreme needs of the Territories.

Despite its tragedy there is a trace of grim humor about the career and the fate of the "Baltic squadron." For more than a year this phrase has figured with unusual frequency in the press despatches from many parts of the earth. For months St. Petersburg kept informing Japan, via the world at large, that an enormous armada was collecting at Cronstadt which would sweep the fleets of the Mikado from the eastern seas and by establishing the naval supremacy of Russia would prepare the way for the re-establishment of her military supremacy also. Japan made no reply but kept on doing business in the modern method. The "Baltic fleet" signaled its entrance of outside waters by a valiant defence against midnight maneuvers executed by a powerful squadron of fishing smacks whose desperate crews were apparently exerting themselves to get out of the way. Had these not happened to be British fishermen and had none of them been injured the reputation of the "Baltic fleet" as a great practical joke would have been won. Whatever element of the ridiculous was lacking in the incident, was provided in the fixity with which the British Government persisted in the maneuver to pursue their journey. During that journey the fleet under Admiral Rozhkovsky appears to have cheerfully disregarded the laws of neutrality, eating and provisioning wherever and whenever the circumstances of the hour made most convenient. Advertising has a value as a creator of confidence and as the press reports month after month traced the progress of this powerful armament, in striking contrast to the impenetrable silence of the Japanese Admiralty as to any plans they might be preparing for its reception, bloody forebodings began to arise in the minds of many whose sympathies were with the plucky little islanders. But that this silence was not that of inactivity was abundantly apparent in the sequel. Not only was the fate of the "Baltic squadron" complete and sudden but in its nature it gave unquestionable evidence of the great superiority of the Japanese marine. Weight for weight of navy and broadside the superiority probably lay with the "Baltic squadron" but superior seamanship, better marksmanship and unconquerable patriotism gave the advantage to the foe, an advantage so well utilized and directed that the breakup of the heretofore "squadron" resembled rather the dispersion of a mob than the defeat of an armada.

As there is now in Montreal a factory devoted exclusively to the manufacture of this machine, it can be bought in Canada for the same price at which it is sold in the U.S. without adding from $25 to $30 to cover duty and charges, as do all the other standard writers.

This should be a very attractive proposition to any purchaser of writing machines.

Campaign Echoes

Mayor Campbell, of London, who presided at a meeting in the interests of Mr. Hyman, said he was not present as a politician, although admitting that ordinarily he took a pretty active interest in politics, but because he desired to advance the interests of London. The city was represented in the Ontario cabinet, though its member had no portfolio, and it would be a strange thing if the people of London did not care to have a minister in the Dominion Government with so important an office as that held by Mr. Hyman. He believed many Conservatives would have been glad if Mr. Hyman had been accorded the honor usually extended in such cases, of election by acclamation, and it left to themselves they would have allowed that; but they had been coerced from Toronto and elsewhere into making a fight, and having entered it, felt in honor bound to do their best. The question for Londoners was the interest of their own city. The defeat of Mr. Hyman would not defeat the Government, nor have any result in regard to the autonomy bills. Was London to give up the honor of having a man holding an important portfolio in order to send to Ottawa a man who would only occupy a seat on the back benches of the opposition? The mayor also briefly upheld the policy of the Government on the autonomy measures, as well as their general policy.

BITTING IN

The Globe's London correspondent wires: "The demand of Mr. John Stevely, voiced at the splendid Liberal rally in the Jubilee rink on Thursday night, that London be free to conduct its own political campaign without reference to the desires of the Toronto Conservative machine, is a sentiment that a majority of Londoners, irrespective of party, heartily concur in. No one has a word to say against either of the local organizations making what arrangements they please, as to meetings and the securing of all the speakers from any point whatever, who are willing to take a hand in the present bye-election campaign. But what is resented, except by those at the head of the Tory forces, is the attitude of Toronto Conservatives, and so-called independents, who, in the language of the man on the street, are simply 'bitting in,' as though the local men were unfit and unequal to the task of directing their own battle. (The Citizens' League, a Toronto organization, of which very few people in London had ever heard, has sent down to this city its organizer, Mr. W. G. Lee, who is arranging a meeting to be held here on the 8th, at which presumably the Government's autonomy bills will be dealt with from 'an independent point of view.' The independents' who will on that date turn the limelight on the question are so far as present announcements indicate, Mr. W. D. McPherson, Mr. E. E. Sheppard and Rev. J. E. Starr, all of Toronto. No doubt their 'independent' assistance will be welcomed by the Conservative leaders, who are beginning to realize that they are fighting a losing battle, and who have got down to the point where it is 'anything to beat Hyman.'"

THE CHALLENGE TO BENNETT.

A Woodstock despatch of Friday says that the Liberals of Oxford are not afraid of the autonomy issue was demonstrated today, when they issued a challenge to R. B. Bennett of Calgary, who has been making inflammatory speeches in the campaign, to meet Hon. Frank Oliver, Minister of the Interior, on the platform here tomorrow night. Mr. Bennett is advertised to speak at London tomorrow night, but professes to be willing to meet Mr. Oliver if he can break this engagement. The matter is to be arranged when Mr. Borden passes through on his way to London in the morning. The Liberals of Oxford are anxious to get Mr. Bennett on a platform where his exaggerated statements may be met. Accordingly they offered him one hour at their meeting in the opera house here tomorrow night. These generous terms were set forth in a letter written by James Hamilton, convenor. He suggested that after the meeting was opened Mr. Oliver should speak for one hour, followed by Mr. Bennett for one hour, after which Mr. Oliver should close the meeting. Not only was the invitation extended to Mr. Bennett, but, in the event of his inability to accept, to any other Conservative.

OLIVER AND TALBOT AT THAMESFORD. June 2.—Hon. Frank Oliver, Minister of the Interior, and Mr. Talbot, M.P. for Strathcona, addressed a crowded meeting here tonight in the interests of Mr. George Smith, Liberal candidate in North Oxford. Both speakers confined themselves wholly to the issue raised by the school clause, and their comprehensive addresses were listened to with keen interest, and it was evident from the warm applause which greeted them, completely carried conviction to the minds of the audience.

The chair was occupied by Dr. McWilliam, and the meeting was opened with a short address by Mr. J. W. Mahon, of Woodstock, who, in moving a vote of thanks, to the speakers at the close, declared that after hearing the addresses he was sure that the Liberals of Thamesford would be glad that the Opposition had made the school clause the issue. It was an issue on which they would be licked out of their boots.

Mr. Oliver referred briefly to his reasons for participating in an Ontario campaign. What was a North-West question had been brought before the people of this province for judgment, and it was necessary that the opinion of the west in regard to it should be heard. The Liberal Administration had been accused of being false to provincial rights. These required defining. A single province had only such rights as were held by other provinces. Confederation could not have been brought about unless the provinces had given up certain of their rights. There was no such thing as independent provinces. They were all necessarily subject to the confederation, by the terms of which these rights were limited. Mr. Oliver proceeded to show with great lucidity the restrictions which the constitution placed on the educational powers of the provinces. The Government had to respect these. He

DIED OF POISONAND ARRESTS MAY FOLLOW

An Ontario Lady Dies Suddenly—
Mother-in-law Suspected.

Belleville, June 8.—In the opinion of the Crown authorities here, Harry Diamond, the handsome young man of the township of Elzevir near Queensbury was murdered. It has been clearly established by analysis that her death was caused by strychnine. The husband of the woman and her mother-in-law who were the only inmates of the dwelling beside the dead woman, both swore positively at the inquest that there was no poison in the house to their knowledge and that neither had ever purchased any. In direct contradiction to the story of Mrs. Diamond's mother-in-law is the testimony of W. J. Atkins a druggist at Madoc who swears that the woman purchased sufficient strychnine from him to kill two persons. An arrest is likely to follow at once.

BRITISH SUBMARINE LOST

Plymouth, June 8.—Submarine boat 8 was lost off the breakwater this morning. Three explosions occurred on board before she foundered. She had on board eighteen officers and men, including her regular crew and men who were in training. Fourteen were drowned. The others were picked up.

PROGRESS OF THE C.N.R.

The C.N.R. grade is now completed to a point about 30 miles west of Lloydminster, and the work is being rushed with all possible speed. The track has been laid across the temporary wooden bridge west of Battleford and the rails are now being laid this side the river at the rate of four miles per day. In the meantime the permanent bridge is being erected. The remainder of the line to Edmonton is through comparatively easy country and the completion of the road to this city during the summer is not a serious undertaking. The crossing at Fort Saskatchewan will probably be made in the same way as at Battleford, the temporary frame structure required for the erection of the permanent bridge being built to carry the track until this is completed. No announcement has yet been made of the town sites between Edmonton and rail head.

—Medicine Hat Times: Father Lacombe, whose name is a household word in Canada, has arrived in Medicine Hat, and will remain here for some months in charge of the Roman Catholic church in this town. The Reverend Father's name stands for much in the West. His noble, self-sacrificing work among the Indians and half-breeds of Western Canada is known throughout the country from coast to coast, and everyone, "all sorts and conditions of men" will concede that Father Lacombe has spent his life for the good of those poor human beings who appear to our advanced ideas so helpless when they come in contact with the white man's methods. In conversation with the Rev. Father we learned that he has established an Institute at a point some 100 miles east of Edmonton and north of the Saskatchewan river, where he has obtained a large grant of land from the Government for settlement. There he hopes to gather the half-breeds into a large colony. The lands will provide grants for 2,000 families, and his object is to get them there away from much that is harmful to them. It is an unenviable task, but he is determined to succeed in this if it is a fitting climax to a life spent in the service of a people whose interests he has made his own throughout his long career in the West. Father Lacombe, who has been in charge of the R.C. church here for several months past, will go to Spring Lake in the Edmonton district, where he will take charge of a large German settlement. Father Lacombe's advent to Medicine Hat marks an important event in the life of the Roman Catholic church here. Mention of service to be held by the reverend gentleman will be found among the local items.

—Everything in connection with Edmonton's great summer fair on June 29 and 30, and July 1, is rushing, and it promises to be the greatest ever held west of Winnipeg and Brandon. On the first day all the school children of Edmonton are to be admitted free and adults 25 cents each daily.

—There is a little paper published in the state penitentiary of Minnesota called the Minnesota Penitentiary Prison Mirror, which reproduces the following question: "Who is it that from the first inception of our paper to the present time we have not had an editor to whom we have not been indebted? Of practically every man who has been in charge of the paper for a year, of doctors chosen to decompose a state, and however enough to establish a good sized colony in hades. But editors not one."

DISCUSSION RESUMEDON THE AUTONOMY BILLS

Messrs Borden and Fitzpatrick Repeat Former Utterances—Canada's Policy Toward Britain

Ottawa, June 8.—In the House today Sir Wilfrid Laurier in reply stated that he had neither proposed nor been invited by the Colonial Secretary to join in another colonial conference. The Canadian Government's policy stood just where it was and could not be affected by any Government change in the Old Country. The House then resumed the consideration of the educational clause of the autonomy legislation. Mr. Borden repeated that in his judgment the twentieth clause had practically the same effect as the original proposal. Mr. Fitzpatrick repeated the differences he had pointed out at an earlier debate. Denominational minority rights to separate schools were maintained in the form sanctioned by the North West ordinance but the right to whatever schools they wanted, formerly enjoyed by the minority was swept away.

—A Saskatchewan despatch says: C. E. Stuart's party of locating engineers for the G.T.P., came into town on Saturday, having been engaged several weeks in the difficult country at the crossing of Eagle Creek. It is understood that a favorable line was secured. Mr. Jones' party is still working to the west of Eagle Creek. Southwest of Battleford Mr. Ord's party, which started from Saskatoon last week, is making good progress to the east and Mr. Jones' party is still further east in the region of Touchwood hills. In all there are five different parties in the field, heading the line of the Grand Trunk Pacific in the neighborhood of Saskatoon, that is to say, 100 miles east and west.

esary in order to complete the dissolution.

Copenhagen, June 8.—The Christiania correspondent of the National Tidende says:

"It is the general opinion that a dissolution between Norway and Sweden is inevitable, but that it cannot occur without removing or suspending the existing sovereign's legal power. Before the end of this week the Storting will have adopted resolutions which, from the instant that they come into force, will mean the dethronement of the king.

"The Norwegians maintain that the king, by not revoking his veto given at Stockholm of the law for separate consular representation, and partly by his absence from Norway, has suspended his rights and duties as king of Norway.

"Then article XIII of the constitution, the Storting will install a responsible government which, in the absence of the king, will govern as the king's name.

"Notifications of eventual changes in the constitutional situation will be probably given to the powers by special message."

London, June 7.—The Christiania correspondent of the Times says he believes he has good authority for saying that Sweden has indirectly assured Norway that no forcible means will be employed within the bounds of the present union. The correspondent adds that the government will today (Wednesday) definitely place its resignation in the hands of the Storting.

instead of defining the rights of the minority as it did in the amended clauses, it had left the educational question open, the Roman Catholics would have appealed to the courts, and there was every likelihood that the question would have been thrown back into Dominion politics.

The Northwest was proud of its school system, and did not want to endanger it by having it in further legal and political procedure. By taking any other course than it did the Government would have endangered it. Nowhere in Canada, except in the Northwest and British Columbia, were there thoroughly state-controlled schools. Manitoba had them in its statutes, but not in practice. If the system were the same as that of Ontario, they would certainly groan against its continuance; but the principles on which the two were founded were altogether different. In the one there was the most effective clerical control; in the other none whatever. In stating that they would on no account accept the school clause as it originally stood, drafted though it was with all good intentions, the western Liberal members had shown themselves ready to maintain the rights of the west at any cost. The west did not need the services of those who at the present time set themselves up as its champions.

Mr. Talbot sketched in a clear and careful manner the history of school legislation in the west. He was free to assert that their schools were more thoroughly national than those in any other province in Canada, or in any state of the Union. In the United States there were a half a million Roman Catholic children attending parochial schools. It was from the double burden which these imposed that the small privilege accorded them preserved the Roman Catholics of the west. "We thought," concluded Mr. Talbot, "that we had settled the school question for all time in the west. We are proud of our system, and heartily support the Government, which in settling this vexed question has merely maintained what has given us universal satisfaction."

The meeting concluded with hearty cheers. It afforded ample indication that the people of this section of the country were in a large majority in favor of the Liberal candidate.

MR. OLIVER AT WOODSTOCK.

Woodstock, June 4.—Packed to the doors with enthusiastic Liberal supporters was the first Liberal meeting of the campaign at Woodstock in the open air. It was a great gathering, and enthusiasm in favor of Smith ran high. Hon. Frank Oliver, Minister of the Interior, E. M. McDonald, M. P. of Pictou, N. S., and E. A. Nesbitt, were the speakers. Malcolm Ross, president, and on the platform were a large number of prominent Liberals. It is, however, who was challenged to debate, was not present. He explained he could not break an engagement to speak in London. Mr. Bennett sent a challenge to meet any two men from Premier of the Dominion down on Wednesday night in the open square.

Hon. Mr. Oliver said the people here had lately heard two discourses of the school question of the Northwest, one from a gentleman eminent in his party rank, and the other of considerable eminence in his own opinion. (Laughter.) It struck him that there was altogether too much protesting in the excuses for Bennett's absence. He was very sorry he was not there, for nothing would give him greater pleasure than to meet Bennett on the platform. As for the challenge made, he thought Bennett was no right to make such. It hardly seemed two men to meet him in debate. The speaker was prepared to meet him single-handed.

The charge had been made that in framing the school clauses of the autonomy bills, the government had been guilty of a breach of provincial rights. It was a serious charge, and still more serious when made against the Liberal party. The rights of the provinces were those given by constitution in the confederation act, and it was not for government or parliament to ignore the constitution. This the government had not done, and it was guilty of no breach of provincial rights. "Let the provinces be free" was a favorite cry made by many provinces in educational matters. By whose hands had Ontario been restricted save by those of the imperial parliament. Many petitions, mostly from Ontario, had been received at Ottawa, that the new provinces might be entirely free in educational matters. They had been sent to the wrong address, for nobody but the imperial parliament could make the provinces entirely free in educational matters. All the frenzied talk of "provincial rights" was nothing but sound with no foundation in fact.

"If we, in the Northwest had a system of separate schools similar to that of Ontario, we would do away with them. We had such a system and we voted it out. I would suggest to the people who are making so much fuss that they get out and abolish their own separate schools."

"We haven't got a system," came from the audience.

"That's exactly what they told us there," was Oliver's reply, "but we took it. Now we haven't any such system, and we are supporting the Liberal government, and amended clause 16 of the autonomy bill as a certain guarantee that they will never be re-created."

THE NEWS OF THE DAY

IN CONDENSED DESPATCHES

Brief Items from many sources tell the story of the day's events.

LOOKING FOR A KING.

Copenhagen, Denmark, June 9.—It is reported that Norway is looking for a Prince now among the royal family of Denmark. Nevertheless, it is definitely stated that King Oscar of Sweden, will reconsider his decision as to forbidding any of his sons occupying the throne of the seceding kingdom. The crown prince of Sweden and Denmark met here tonight. Prince Gustave, of Sweden, was much distressed at the turn of affairs. It is said Emperor William of Germany is willing to intervene in favor of the Swedish dynasty. Many tourists have abandoned proposed trips to Norway owing to the revolution.

BAD MARKSMEN

Victoria, June 8.—The Italian cruiser Umbria took a whirl at the practice targets placed by H. M. S. Egerton. The Umbria fired one hundred rounds. Most of the shots fell among the blue jackets on Pender Island and the inhabitants. Remarkable to relate no one was hurt.

NEW Y.M.C.A. BUILDING FOR WINNIPEG

Brandon, June 8.—The corner stone of the Y.M.C.A. building was laid by R. and Revs. C. W. and J. T. Goss. Sir, Daniel McMillan today. The building will cost $75,000. His honor was accompanied by Col. Evans, C. R. and Revs. C. W. and J. T. Goss.

PAUL GAMES

Winnipeg, June 8.—Yesterday's scores—Fargo 3, Winnipeg 1; Grand Forks 10, St. Cloud 6; Duluth 7, Crookston 5.

CRICKET IN ENGLAND

London, June 8.—In the first innings of their game against the Australians today, the Marylebone cricket club made 141 for five wickets.

SYNOD CHERISHED BY WESTERN PROGRESS

Kinross, June 9.—At the Presbyterian synod last night, the missions of the west were dealt with by Dr. McLaren and Rev. J. A. Carmichael and aroused the assembly to a high pitch of enthusiasm. The report of the home missions committee showed contributions of $136,600, an increase of $50 for each missionary, the opening up of 15 new fields, formation of new Presbyteries in Alberta (and eleven more self sustaining congregations). The total number of fields is 503 with 435 church buildings, 1332 preaching stations and 35468 average attendance. The eastern section of the home missions reported a slight decrease in missionaries and collections owing to the immigration west.

AN EXPLANATION

Editor of Edmonton Bulletin:

Dear Sir: In reading over your paper today I came across an article on St. Albert matters in which Mr. Fitzgerald asks the question, "Was I dismissed because I was neglecting my work or not capable of doing it?" Now, I am in charge of the excavating, concrete and brickwork and have the hiring of all laborers. Mr. Fitzgerald was employed by me and I intended to let him out the first half day he worked, but he being an old man, I kept him another day and gave him all the chance to work, and he could not earn one dollar per day compared with the men he had to work with. So you have the true version of his case.

There is not a man working in the gang who is not a St. Albert man and a ratepayer (except the bricklayers, who are from your worthy city). There has never since I came on to the work, a councilman ever asked me to fire a man or ever branched or suggested such a thing to me. They have asked me to see that all the married men have a preference. Because of their large families we are doing everything to give every rate payer in St. Albert a chance to work.

I represent Cannell & Spencer of your city, and not even either of the members of the firm have the hiring or firing of a man while I am in charge.

I am the judge of the men and not the St. Albert city council. If I had a man who was a good man and he suited me, not a member of that council would move him. Yours for a fair day's work for a fair day's pay.

Yours for truth and right,
J. W. SPENCER,
Foreman.
